

AN ALL ROUND FIREARM

The Luger Automatic Pistol and Ideal Holster.

The Ideal holster makes a carbine out of the Luger pistol, and also makes a first-class belt holster for the pistol. We have been out of Luger pistols and Ideal holster for a week, but have just received a shipment. Our stock of Colt Automatics and regular models of Colt pistols is complete. Prices right. All firearms guaranteed. Parts carried in stock here for replacement if defective.

Our repair department is busy these days. By the way, you know we carry a full line of parts for most all rifles, revolvers and shotguns, and it is much cheaper to buy factory made parts (and in most instances you get better parts) than to have the parts made to order. Only stock of parts in the city.

The Williams House,

Maricopa, Arizona.

MAY BE THE LAST WEEK

Proposition for Final Adjournment of Legislature on Friday.

The Legislature will enter upon the last full week of the session this morning. There is a growing possibility that it will be the last week of any kind, for some of the members of both houses are advocating a sine die adjournment next Friday. Most of the legislation that it will be possible to enact at all will have been enacted by that time, and not one in five of the pending bills could be passed through both houses if the legislature should remain in session for the next six months. The legislature will expire by limitation one week from next Thursday.

There is a prevailing opinion that most of the necessary changes in the statutes have already been made. Many of the members are business men and are growing anxious to get home to attend to their personal affairs.

But the members who are asking for an early adjournment are so far in the minority. They are hopeful, though, of a spread of sentiment within the next five days. If that should happen a new record in Arizona legislatures would be established.

Just what will happen this week is as much of a mystery as it always has been at the beginning of every legislative week. It is reasonably certain that the house will take the Cowan bill out of the hands of the enrolling committee and pass it. It was predicted last night that that event would occur today. A determined effort, it is understood, will be made to get some kind of action on the woman suffrage bill, which Chairman Morehead of the committee having it in charge is trying so strenuously to avoid.

It is expected that there will be a sharp contest in the house over the council bill to regulate the practice of medicine. That contest, though, may be confined to the committee. The committee on Saturday gave the friends and the opponents of the bill a five-hour hearing. The opposition comes entirely from the Christian Scientists, who are demanding a new definition of the clause relating to the practice of medicine, which is about all the difference between the bill and the present law.

A good deal of interest is centering about the O'Connell public printing bill, the understanding being that the council will never consent to the passage of it. There is also a great deal of inquiry regarding the action of the governor on the eight-hour bill, which has been in his hands since last Monday. There are three days for him to hold it yet, but the fact that he has signed all the bills which he has so far signed with promptness has filled the friends of the bill with apprehension.

GUEST GOT BULLET.

Passed by Just as Intruder Had Been Frightened Away by Shots.

Altoona, Pa. March 8.—As a result of the whitecap scare in Juniata, a suburb, Joseph L. Guest was shot last night.

According to his story, he had been in Altoona and was returning home. When passing the Nelson house about 10:30 o'clock, shots were fired, one of the bullets striking him in the thigh.

The Nelsons say, that, prior to the shooting, a man peered through a rear window, and on opening the door they found him standing on the porch. They asked him what he wanted, and he replied that he "was there for business" and that he was accompanied by others.

One of the inmates of the house rushed to the porch with a revolver and the intruder fled. The man on the porch shot at the fleeing figure, which had then gained the street.

All who saw the intruder say that Guest is not the man.

THE OIL OUTLOOK IN PINAL.

Of the progress of operations in the search for oil in Pinal county, the Florence Blade publishes the following: Alonzo Bailey, president of the Pinal Paraffine Oil Company, came in from Los Angeles Sunday, and left Monday for the company's camp in Hackberry, Wash. He informed the Blade that the drill at the company's well had passed through the conglomerate bed and entered oil sand which gives indications that a body of oil will be reached soon. The well now gives out a strong odor of oil and gas, and the drill comes up wet with oil float. There is hardly a doubt now that the Paraffine Oil Company will strike oil in their prospect well, and that it will be the best grade of paraffine oil. With this discovery of oil in the heart of the great mineral belt on earth, followed by the advent of the Phoenix and Eastern railroad, Pinal county will soon become the center of attraction for capitalists seeking safe and profitable investments.

Amusements

Hoyt's plays are clever and the public revels in them. They are full of keen wit, kindly satire on the fads of the day, sparkling with wit and altogether possessing those qualities that are sure to put an audience in a happy frame of mind. They are built to amuse the people and they succeed emphatically. His "A Trip to Chinatown" which comes to the Dorris Theatre tonight has been given an entirely new musical setting. Into this play the late Charles Hoyt put some of his best and funniest observations and it is claimed by many to eclipse in brilliant merit any of his other efforts. "A Trip to Chinatown" will be presented with entirely new scenery and stage effects while it is claimed that the company is one of the best ever seen in the popular success and is headed by Wm. Kellar Mack.

The company includes Harry Cashman, Jack Campbell, Frank Beamish, Percy Walling, Wm. Sturgeon, John Doyle, Sylvia Starr, Kitty Wells, Nellie Sennett Miller, Molly Saylor, Zenie Blair and others.

Full of bright lines, clever satire, funny situations, catchy music and novel vaudeville features, it is the bright star in the farce comedy firmament.

COUGHS UP A LIVE EEL.

New York, March 8.—Niels Andersen, 17 years old, a Swedish immigrant who arrived on the Campania, was taken with a violent fit of coughing while lined up with other immigrants for inspection by the surgeons of the marine corps, and after an unusually violent spasm coughed up a live eel six inches long. The eel was alive and squirmed about the vessel's deck to the amazement of Andersen's fellow passengers. Shortly after the Campania left the other side Andersen was stricken with an illness that baffled the ship's surgeon. It is believed that he must have swallowed the eel while drinking water from a pool, and that it grew in his stomach.
